The Winter Scene by Bliss Carman

I

The rutted roads are all like iron; skies
Are keen and brilliant; only the oak-leaves cling
In the bare woods, or the hardy bitter-sweet;
Drivers have put their sheepskin jackets on;
And all the ponds are sealed with sheeted ice
That rings with stroke of skate and hockey-
stick,
Or in the twilight cracks with running whoop.
Bring in the logs of oak and hickory,
And make an ample blaze on the wide hearth.
Now is the time, with winter o'er the world,
For books and friends and yellow candle-light,
And timeless lingering by the settling fire.
While all the shuddering stars are keen with cold.

II

Out from the silent portal of the hours,
When frosts are come and all the hosts put on
Their burnished gear to march across the night
And o'er a darkened earth in splendor shine,
Slowly above the world Orion wheels 1)
His glittering square, while on the shadowy hill
And throbbing like a sea-light through the dusk,
Great Sirius rises in his flashing blue. 2)
Lord of the winter night, august and pure,
Returning year on year untouched by time,
To hearten faith with thine unfaltering fire,
There are no hurts that beauty cannot ease,
No ills that love cannot at last repair,
In the victorious progress of the soul.

III

Russet and white and gray is the oak wood
In the great snow. Still from the North it comes,
Whispering, settling, sifting through the trees,
O'erloading branch and twig. The road is lost.
Clearing and meadow, stream and ice-bound pond
Are made once more a trackless wilderness
In the white hush where not a creature stirs;
And the pale sun is blotted from the sky.
In that strange twilight the lone traveller halts
To listen to the stealthy snowflakes fall.
And then far off toward the Stamford shore, 3)
Where through the storm the coastwise liners
go,
Faint and recurrent on the muffled air,
A foghorn booming through the Smother-hark! 4)

IV

When the day changed and the mad wind died
down,
The powdery drifts that all day long had blown
Across the meadows and the open fields,
Or whirled like diamond dust in the bright sun,
Settled to rest, and for a tranquil hour
The lengthening bluish shadows on the snow
Stole down the orchard slope, and a rose light
Flooded the earth with beauty and with peace.
Then in the west behind the cedars black
The sinking sun stained red the winter dusk
With sullen flare upon the snowy ridge,—
As in a masterpiece by Hokusai, 5)
Where on a background gray, with flaming breath
A scarlet dragon dies in dusky gold.

Notes

- 1) Orion: Winter constellation in the Northern Hemisphere named after a hunter with belt and sword.
- 2) Sirius: Brightest star in the night sky, located in the constellation Canis Major.
- 3) Stamford: Town in Connecticut.
- 4) Smother: Thick cloud of snow, fog, or spray.
- 5) Hokusai: Katsushika Hokusai, Japanese artist (1760-1849). Perhaps his most iconic painting is The Great Wave at Kanagawa from a Series of Thirty-Six Views of Mount Fuji.

Notice that the poem uses a form of pentameter blank verse, although the poem doesn't always follow the iambic pattern.

Bliss Carman (1861–1929) was a Canadian poet who lived and worked most of his life in the United States and was acclaimed, at least unofficially, as Canada's poet laureate during his later years. This four-poem work, The Winter Scene, was first published in the magazine, The Nation, in January, 1917.

I have chosen to call this work "Winter Scenes" and given each movement a title that derives from text in each poem. The intent is to create music that mirrors the strong images Bliss Carman created in his four-part poem. Movements I and IV are SATB. Movement II is SSAA, and movement III is TTBB. This work has instances of divisi in all movements but especially movements I and IV. Performance time is approximately 18–20 minutes.

I. Shuddering Stars

SATB

A musical score for four voices (Soprano, Alto, Tenor, Bass) and piano. The music is in common time, key signature is one flat, and the tempo is 64. The vocal parts enter sequentially, each singing 'shud-der - ing' followed by 'stars'. The piano part provides harmonic support, with a prominent bass line and chords. Measure numbers 1 through 6 are indicated above the staff.

Soprano
Alto
Tenor
Bass
Piano

Note for Performance: Not for Rehearsal

Notice that the piano part in this score is to be used only with the SATB + piano performance version and for rehearsal purposes. For the version with instrumental accompaniment, there is a separate piano part.

IV. Dusky Gold

SATB

Adagio $\text{♩} = 48$

The musical score consists of five staves. The top four staves represent the vocal parts: Soprano, Alto, Tenor, and Bass, arranged in that order from top to bottom. The bottom staff represents the Piano. The music is in 3/2 time signature throughout. The vocal parts mostly consist of sustained notes or short eighth-note patterns. The piano part features harmonic chords and some rhythmic patterns. Dynamics include p (piano) and mp (mezzo-forte). The lyrics "When the day changed" appear above the Alto staff, and "When" appears above the Tenor and Bass staves. The piano staff has a dynamic marking p at the beginning of the first measure and mp at the beginning of the second measure.
